

Impaired Driving

Impaired driving is defined as operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Impaired driving puts the driver, passengers and others who share the road at serious risk.

More than 10,000 people die annually in alcohol-impaired driving crashes – that's one every 50 minutes. (NHTSA)

In 2016, 43.6% of fatally injured drivers tested positive for drugs, and over half of those drivers were positive for two or more drugs. (GHSA)

In Georgia, 3,241 people were killed in crashes involving an alcohol-impaired driver from 2009-2018. (CDC)

Follow these tips to avoid impaired driving:

- ◆ Never allow alcohol to be provided or served to minors. It's against the law, and it's dangerous.
- ◆ If you're planning an adult party or social event, make sure there are plenty of non-alcoholic beverages and that they're prominently displayed.
- ◆ If alcohol is going to be provided, insist that designated drivers be identified.
- ◆ Provide lots of protein and high carbohydrate food and snacks, but steer clear of salty ones that make people want to drink more.
- ◆ If you're an adult, be aware that there are times when you are more vulnerable to alcohol impairment. Choose not to drink if you've been feeling sick, are taking medicine that increases impairment when mixed with alcohol, or haven't eaten.
- ◆ NEVER drive under the influence of alcohol or other drugs, and don't get into a car being driven by someone who is. Arranging for alternative transportation may save your life!
